Metro Atlanta
*Councilman Hall to Honor Group on Economic Inclusion Day

ATLANTA – On September 20, the Partnership for Southern Equity will release its new report, Growing the Future: The Case for Economic Inclusion in Metropolitan Atlanta, through a free public event to be held from 5:30 until 8:30 p.m. at the Historic Academy of Medicine at Georgia Tech, 875 W Peachtree Street, N.E., in Midtown Atlanta.

As part of the event, Atlanta City Councilman Kwanza Hall will present a proclamation from the Atlanta City Council at 6 p.m. designating September 20 as Economic Inclusion Day in the City of Atlanta.

The Growing the Future report was funded by The Annie E. Casey Foundation and guided by an editorial committee consisting of representatives from the Atlanta BeltLine Partnership, Atlanta Regional Commission, Corporation for Enterprise Development, Douglas County Economic Development Authority, the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, Georgia Institute of Technology, Invest Atlanta, National Development Council, NeighborWorks America, the Office of Atlanta City Councilman Kwanza Hall, The Annie E. Casey Foundation, and The Kendeda Fund. Findings from the report outlining new local and regional opportunities for innovation, collaboration, economic inclusion, and equity will be highlighted.

The Partnership for Southern Equity (PSE) works to realize a metro Atlanta where all can participate and prosper in our regional economy. PSE envisions a metropolitan Atlanta where shared prosperity is realized through balanced growth and opportunity.
